

Configuring Your Bank's Online Bill Payment Service

A Different Way of Giving

If you are interested in setting up your bank's bill pay service to donate to LIFE then check out these tips. Online bill pay giving is a great way to organize donations given to LIFE.

Using your bank's internet bill pay service enables you to donate to LIFE by instructing your bank to issue a check to LIFE for a specific amount.

To begin donating using Internet Bill Pay, first ensure that your bank provides internet banking and that your bank account has Internet banking privileges.

If you have these privileges, log onto your online bank account (specifics vary among different banks) and choose an option named "Bill Pay" or something to that effect (again, each bank names this feature differently).

Create a new payee (the recipient of the payment) which should be "LIFE" and provide a mailing address of "5171 Edison Ave. Suite F, Chino, CA 91710".

Next, provide the bank with an account number of the payee. Specify your full name so that we can identify that the check came from you. You may also be required to specify your mailing address, depending on which bank you use.

Lastly, specify the frequency of payment, which can be weekly or monthly.

Once you've completed the setup process, a payment will be made automatically and we'll receive a check from your bank on your behalf. We will track your tax-deductible donation as we do every other check that comes through the offering on Sundays.
